GILGUN KNOWS ABOUT JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Juvenile Delinquency cannot be made a partisan issue in a political campaign. It is a grave national problem. And because this problem has been misrepresented by many sociologists, it is still misunderstood by many lawmakers. Before long, however, state legislatures will be forced to take positive action on a situation that is already critical.

Our District Juvenile Probation Officer has made a sober study of this social disorder. Civic and religious groups have heard him lecture on its causes and cures with sound logic and uncommon light. And, as a matter of fact, the success he had in dealing with young offenders is a tribute to both his intelligence and his integrity.

We respectfully (but urgently) suggest that the mothers and fathers of this district send Frederick V. Gilgun to the next session of the State Legislature as our representative. He has proven himself mature enough to have ideas and he is young enough to fight for them.

LAYMEN'S SUNDAY AT METHODIST CHURCH

Mr. Seddon is well known in Wilmington as an instructor in many of the first aid classes held in recent years. He is the laboratory technician at the No. Reading Sanatorium, and has been active in the life of the local Methodist Church for nearly two years being elected as its lay leader one year ago.

TWO WILMINGTON

FIREMEN INJURED IN SPECTACULAR BLAZE

Four firemen, including two Wilmington men, were injured Tuesday afternoon in a spectacular fire which leveled Tunney's Furniture Warehouse on Main St.

The fire which broke out at approximately 1:00 p.m., tied up traffic on Route 33 for hours. Seven surrounding towns sent aid to fight the blaze which was made extremely hazardous to battle due to paint and lacquer fumes and to fanning breezes which blew sparks into surrounding woodlands.

Local firefighters who were injured and treated at the scene were Fred Kleynen and Charlie Ellis. Also treated for injuries were men from Lowell and Reading. Help was also sent from Billerica, Tewksbury, Andover, Burlington and District Fire Warden A. Hallenborg and his crew.

The building was a total loss except for the adjoining barber shop which was severely damaged but may be able to open for business shortly.

During the thirties the building was the home of the Black Cat. The fire is under investigation by the State Fire Marshall's office.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

As almost everyone will agree, all work and no play makes for a very dull day. Thus to interest the students, provide new horizons and food for thought, pupils are challenged with many activities outside of the usual school work. By doing and then applying what they learn, students begin to accept greater responsibility and develop the basic principles of working with other people that will assist them greatly in later years.

The very wide variety of extra-curricular activities is so great that almost everyone finds something of particular interest. If you are a leader you can become an officer of a class or one of the many clubs. One of the most popular fields of activity is sports, available to both boys and girls, both of which are assisted by our fine cheerleaders. The boys can compete in football, basketball, hockey and baseball, while the girls can try out for the field hockey, basketball, and softball teams.

Some of the many clubs you can enter are - the Dramatic Club specializing in plays very much enjoyed by everyone; the Foreign Language Club which helps bring the classroom work to life; the Science Club that proves science is fun; the Debating Club which engages in friendly discussions; and the Chess and Cue Club for those interested in these games.

Besides the officers of the classes and organizations there is the Student Council which is made up of people elected from each homeroom and which engages in many worthwhile activities.

Literary enthusiasts and pupils interested in journalism may write for the "New Alpha" written and published in the school, and the "Hi-Lites" written by students for the townspeople.

The Glee Club and Band, an activity which appeals to many, does a fine job of entertaining at school and public ceremonies; and last, but not least, the monitors help to enforce and maintain "law and order" in the corridors of W. H. S.

Thus our school provides outside interest for everyone's taste.

The class was also instructed in the use of the personal dosimeter, an instrument which fits into the users shirt pocket.

CENSUS BUREAU TO OBTAIN FACTS ON SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Questions on school enrollment will be asked in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment in the Oct. Current Population Survey, according to Supervisor Joseph F. Downey of the Census Bureau's field office at Boston, Massachusetts which will participate in the survey.

Similar questions on school attendance last year revealed that about seven million more persons, 5 to 29 years old, were enrolled in school or college in October 1955 than in October 1950. About 37.2 million persons 5 to 29 years old were enrolled at the beginning of the 1955-56 school year. This number represented a 23 percent gain over the 30.2 million enrolled five years earlier.

Kindergarten enrollment increased very rapidly (by 82 percent) between 1950 and 1955, the survey showed. Elementary school enrollment increased 24 percent, and high school enrollment 19 percent. College enrollment declined during the early years of this decade, but by 1955 it had increased to a level above that of 1950.

The Current Population Survey will be taken locally and in 329 other areas of the country during the week of October 15. Information will be collected locally by a properly identified Census enumerator of the Boston District Office.

"I don't think this would have happened on concrete!"

"It happened so fast, officer! I was taking it easy because I know this type of pavement is slippery when wet. I stepped on the brakes to slow down for the curve and my car suddenly went completely out of control. I skidded into the other lane of traffic and right into that other car. I don't think this would have happened if I had been on a concrete road."

You're right, Mr. Motorist. There's less chance of such an accident on concrete. Concrete pavement has greater skid resistance than other pavements. Your tires get a tight grip on its gritty surface. This means better vehicle control and quicker stops without skidding, even though it may be raining.

Remember, the type of pavement can often mean the difference between life and death. You're much safer when you drive on a skid-resistant concrete pavement.

Modern, properly constructed concrete highways in Massachusetts will save money as well as lives. More than 70 per cent of the 597 miles of concrete pavement built on Massachusetts state highways is over 20 years old. All but a few miles were constructed under old engineering standards. Taxpayers in many other states, including Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island, New York and Pennsylvania, are enjoying the advantages of new, modern, safe, smooth, economical concrete pavement which can last for 50 years.

rushed for a three-yard touch-down in the first quarter, fifty yards, and passed to his returned a Wilmington punt right-end, Tweed, for two more in the second period. He completed his day with a five yard rush in the third period.

Costello of Dracut also scored in the first period on a three yard rush, and the score at the end of the first half stood 28-0, Dracut.

Dracut used many substitutes in the second half with Gaskin pacing the attack on a forty-five yard run. He crashed over from the four yard line for his third touchdown of the day.

Late in the third period the Dracut subs lost the ball on downs at the Wilmington one after a ninety yard march.

Wilmington's only touchdown came late in the fourth quarter, when Gurski smashed four yards for the lone Wilmington tally.

The final scoring of the day came when Dracut's full-back Rawley rushed over from the one.

Highlights:

The football-type weather drew a good crowd of rooters to the game from both Wilmington and Dracut. Although Wilmington hasn't won a game yet, the boys have been in there trying their best. Joe Gurski's touchdown gave him a total of five, tying him for fourth top scorer in the suburban league. Wilmington's next game is with Wayland at Wilmington, starting at two o'clock.

SEAL SALE NEWS

Meeting recently at the home of Mrs. John P. Silvers of Andover St., a new member of the group, the Wilmington Seals Sale Committee made extensive plans for this year's Seal Sale. This committee, of which Mr. Stanley Cummings is the chairman, had already been represented at a Workshop, sponsored by the Middlesex Health Association of which this local committee is the Wilmington Branch. This Workshop, which was held at the Proving Station in Waltham, had as its first speaker another member of the Wilmington committee, Mrs. Guy E. Nichols, R.N. In her keynote address, Mrs. Nichols reviewed the history of the Seal Sale movement from its very beginning, and stressed the increasing need for public support of the Seal Sale, to counteract the wave of hopeful belief which is sweeping over the country that tuberculosis is all but licked. Attending the evening session of this Workshop besides Mrs. Nichols, were Mrs. David Martin, Mrs. Henry Hartwell, Mrs. Silvers and Mrs. Cummings. At the following committee meeting here in Wilmington, the need was stressed again that this committee urge the truth about the present status of TB: that in Mass. alone there are now 37,000 active and inactive cases of this disease, that the death rate in the north-east is now higher than in any other part of the United States, including the deep South.

A reorganization of the committee took place at this meeting, whereby the members now engaged in active public health work in Wilmington become voting consultants, with an increased number of laymembers. The committee as it has thus been strengthened, is as follows: Gaius E. Harmon, M.D., retired public health worker, Ethel Butters, R.N. Board of Health nurse, Mrs. Guy E. Nichols, R.N., school nurse, and Mrs. Robert P. Lyle, asst. school nurse, Consultants; Mrs. Stanley Cummings, chairman, Mrs. Parker Prindle, treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Anderson, R.N., Mrs. Herbert Barrows, Mrs. Frank J. Hagerty, Mrs. Henry G. Hartwell, Mrs. David Martin, Mrs. John P. Silvers, R.N., and Mrs. Burt Tilley.

ATTENTION LEGIONAIRES

Again we make the news, this time to let you know what happened Oct. 4, at the regular meeting held at the Legion Hall.

The meeting was very lively with most of the members expressing themselves on the issues brought before them.

Our very able Sgt.-at-arms let no one in unless they had their due card, even the Commander's card was checked; boy, does he mean business! If all of our officers do as good a job as Freddie Lloyd, then we are bound to have the best year.

Doctor Chernoff was appointed as Chairman of our Blood Donor Bank. Doc says that every member of the Post must have a little blood, and that he will do his best to get it. Remember, sign up now as Doctor Chernoff is making arrangements with the Winchester Hospital for the donors. This blood may help save your life, or some member of your family.

Have you noticed how windy it is around Wilmington lately? That is Harry Reed flying around getting ads for the Military Ball ad book. Harry has been doing a tremendous job and will not slight anyone. If you have not been contacted yet please hurry as the time is short to place your ad in this great book. If you have not placed yours yet call Harry at OL 8-4533.

The Military Ball is to be held on Nov. 2, at the Wildwood School, sponsored by both the American Legion and the V. F. W. If you can't buy an ad then buy a ticket at $2.50 per couple. This is the years biggest event.

Arthur Harper is running a close second to Harry as Arthur is in charge of the Annual Turkey Whist Party that is to be held at the Legion Hall on Oct. 23, at 8:00 p.m. The support of this Turkey Whist is very important and every member of this Post and their friends are asked to please co-operate and buy a ticket as the money made on this party supplies the needy families of Wilmington with a basket of groceries at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Every member is also requested to donate any article that will help fill these baskets. The more we have the more we can give to those who are less fortunate than ourselves. The Legion Hall will be open Saturday morning from 10:30 to 12:00. If you wish tickets please contact any of the following men, Arthur Harper, OL 8-2514; John Winters OL 8-2679; Eugene Sullivan OL 8-3818; Joe DiCampo, OL 8-8053; Frank Tebeau, OL 8-2890; or Frank Sottile, OL 8-3034.

If any boy or girl who is not playing in the High School Band wishes to join a band sponsored by the Legion, please see Ralph Zwicker at the Legion Hall on Saturday from 10:30 a.m. till 12 noon.

Don't forget fellows, your 1957 dues are now due. If you have not paid it yet, let's hurry.

Ralph Zwicker, Adjutant

NEIGHBORS

By Paul D. Emmons

Sonny dropped his eyes and sidled away, mumbling something inarticulate.

"He probably heard you say it," declared Sally, accusingly.

"On a morning like this," dryly, "I'm not prepared to dispute it."

"He's a cute little devil, ain't he?" snickered Hildreth as they descended to the cellar. "There ain't no flies on him. I see him with the other kids the other day, and he was bossin' them all around, an' telling 'em where to get off."

"He doesn't always get what's coming to him," pulling out a double window and applying a dusting cloth to it.

"Wa'al, if he's only as smart when he grows up as he is now he'll be a humdinger," picking up a window and lugging it out through the bulkhead.

Sonny watched their subsequent operations with interest, following them around from window to window, and flattening his nose against the inside pane. Uncle Rip got chilled through, standing on the top of the ladder.

"Gad!" he exclaimed, thrashing his arms vigorously after the job was finished, "this certainly is cold enough for me. Sally has some hot coffee on the stove. Come in and have a cup."

"Thank ye, don't care if I do."

Uncle Rip followed his helper outdoors again after they had disposed of the coffee.

"Wa'al," remarked Hildreth, fishing out his plug of tobacco for replacement purposes, "I got to go over an' be a kitchen striker myself now."

"The pigs are fed, I suppose," observed Uncle Rip, with a smile.

"Yes, they're all set, long ago."

"I've sometimes wondered what animals must feel like in weather like this."

"Oh, they haven't the same feelings we have, they're tougher. Still they don't have much of a time in the winter, for a fact. The pigs don't mind it so much. There's considerable heat in what they waller in, and they all lie up close together so that the fellers on the inside of the heap are all hunky dory. They really have it better than the cows. 'Tain't no fun bein' a cow this weather. Hurts them, ye know, standing out there and being milked twice a day with the thermometer down to zero."

And off he clumped. Uncle Rip gathered up his tools and returned inside the house. Sonny looked at him silently, then out of the window again.

"Well, young fella, what do you think of it? How do you like the looks of things out there?"

Sonny's face clouded. "I want the trees to come back," he said, with a little plaintive note in his voice.

"You want the trees to come back? Oh, I see," glancing at the leafless branches. "Well, they will some day. They're just taking a rest now for the winter."

But if Sonny felt that the trees had gone back on him, his disgust with climatic conditions after the snow came was cataclysmic. Two days later, when the temperature rose, it did come - a driving blizzard which swirled about the little cottage and left it a snow covered peak in a smooth white sea. Uncle Rip went out to shovel some paths.

"Oh, look at all the lovely snow," said Sally. "It's just like frozen feathers. After Uncle Rip gets the paths shovelled you can take your toboggan and go out. You've been in the house too much lately."

Sonny, who liked cold weather even less than he did hot, passively submitted. In five minutes he was back in the house again.

"I want you to stay out a little longer," said Sally.

"It's too doggone cold to stay out - and it's so doggone slippery I can't stand up!"

"Sonny, you mustn't say such things! Little boys ought not to talk that way!"

"Doggone it! doggone it! doggone it!" chattered Sonny.

"Sonny! Do you want me to spank you?"

The situation was finally compromised by allowing him to take off his wraps and stay in the house. Sally was disappointed. A year ago her infant son had been too small to attempt anything in the line of winter sports, but this time she had hoped it would be different.

"Mamma thought you would like the snow, dear," she said coaxingly. "Jim and Fred have a lot of fun in it."

Sonny leaned against the window and looked out with an expression of deep gloom. "I hate the snow! I want the snow to go away. Put the snow in the garbage pail! The snow is a piece of bunk!"

Sally gave a sigh of exasperation.

"If you aren't the funniest kid! Here it is a lovely bright day after the storm, and you need to go out, yet you persist in staying in this stuffy old house."

But Sonny's spirits soon revived, and a little later she heard him playing with his miniature railroad and calling out, "train stops at Boston, Heddington, and North Garbage!" When the children came home from school he so far forgot his antipathy to the snow as to go coasting with them. But unless they were with him no amount of persuasion or commands could drive him outdoors while it lasted. The net result was considerable wear and tear on his mother's nervous system.

"He's certainly the worst acting kid I ever laid eyes on," she complained to his father during the course of an evening meal. "A little more and he'll have me bughouse! This morning when I was making the beds he'd pull the blankets and sheets off as fast as I could spread them out. And then when I did have them all made up nice and clean he got up and jumped on them with his dirty boots!"

"That isn't what beds are for," said Perry, sternly, to his small son, who grinned at him implisly.

"Oh, but that isn't the whole of it. I sent him downstairs, and he scattered the books and magazines all over the living room floor and hid the book ends behind the radiator."

"You leave books and magazines alone!" was the paternal admonition.

"And a little later I was in the middle of my dishwashing and had to go upstairs for a minute. He'd got his toys all over the kitchen floor so that I could hardly walk. I told him to pick them up and put them in his playbox. Instead of that he dumped them all in my d'shpan. Imagine it - his marbles, and blocks, and soldiers, and dolls, and toy locomotives, all wet."

"He can't have any toys if he's going to do that with them," with a jove-like frown.

"Then I gave him an apple, thinking that would keep him quiet. He'd bite pieces out of it and chew them up, then spit them out all over the kitchen floor and walk on them."

"For the love of Mike!"

"I sent him upstairs after that. He was quite for a long time, so that I got suspicious and went up. He'd taken my spools of cotton and snipped them all up into little pieces with the scissors."

"Anything else?"

"Oh, yes," Sally looked accusingly at her mischievous offspring. "My sewing machine was out of order this morning. I fussed with it for half an hour before I discovered that this monkey had loosened the tension screw."

Sonny had kept his tail up pretty well while this indictment was being read, but now it began to drop a little. He'd caught his Uncle Rip's eye fixed sternly upon him. He wasn't the least afraid of his Father or Mother, but he did stand in awe of his Uncle Rip.

"If he'd only go outside and play," complained Sally, "he might work off some of his jinks. But I can't get him out until after the children come home from school. I don't know what I'm going to do with him."

"You and I will have a little talk at bedtime Bill," said his father.

Perry decided that the time had come to "sell" religion to his son. His own business was picking up, and why shouldn't his family share in the uplift? It had been slow work at first. Morgenson Bros., at the outset, hadn't been the gold mine he had confidently expected. Even a bigger and better line of goods designed to reach a bigger and better line of customers had proved rather disappointing. Times had been a little hard and sales resistance a little high.

But what the heck! things had got to turn sometime. "Follow me and you'll wear diamonds" and Perry meant it literally, for his line included even these. If only his customers had more money! Perry tried to overcome this deficiency by covering a wider territory and making more sales. With unflagging zeal he ran the "direct to the consumer" gamut - selling a pair of scrim draperies for $1.98 and just missing a sale on a $150. Oriental rug. Investing an amiable young lady with an assortment of near-silk "undies" which totaled up to $27.50, and acquiring in return a hopeful "lead" on a customer who might want a hundred dollar diamond ring. Closing a sale on a two hundred dollar "parlor set" to a Yiddisher lady who was just moving into a new apartment.

ment only to find that her credit wasn't good and his employers refused to let her have the goods. Some days his commissions amounted to seven or eight dollars, but those days were in the minority.

But it's a poor wind that blows nobody good, and the climatic conditions which imposed such a strain on the domestic harmony of Perry's little household helped his sales wonderfully. Fur coats and blankets - there was a run on them now. Morgenson Bros., got out some pink and green handbills - no prejudice to men or women as far as the color was concerned, but addressed to the dominant interest

They began with the insinuating request. Can we save you any money? set forth an intriguing array of coats - raccoon, caracul, squirrel, beaver, Hudson seal - supplemented these with a broadside of "high-toned and guaranteed jewelry $5.00 down, balance $1.00 per week," and wound up with the naive suggestion, "hand this to your husband - or any other gentleman."

Perry took heart as his business began to improve. His employees were showing an interest in him and backing him up. The little old Ford rambled right along and Perry went snorting merrily through the snow drifts, leaving a trail of pink and green fliers behind him. The commission on fur coats was twenty-five per cent, and one week his rah boys' we've got going at drer and sixty dollars. Hur-boys, we've got going at last! Perry felt that anything was possible now, even selling religion to his son.

It was practically a virgin field. There had been a few maternal attempts at instruction, but they had come to rather an abrupt end a year previous when Sonny, who was in the process of being house-broken, had begun to say his prayers as follows:-

"God bless Sonny, and make him a good boy - and tell Mama every time!"

Perry never had time to dress his son in the morning (he sometimes didn't have time to dress himself) so he "squared" matters with Sally by putting him to bed at night. Usually he told him a bedtime story, or read him a fairy tale. But not tonight. There was something much more serious on foot tonight.

With a sober face and in grave tones he explained the meaning of Deity. How there was a great spirit up in heaven who ruled all the world and everything in it. He made everything happen, and knew everything that was going on. He was particularly interested in little to grow up into big men who boys, for he expected them would do things to advance his kingdom on earth. He would be angry with bad little boys, but he would love good little boys, and make them into big, strong men who could do anything they wanted to.

Sonny listened attentively, a fair, fresh, succulent little morsel of humanity, sitting on the bed in his blue striped pajamas with his dark blue eyes fixed unwaveringly on his father's face. At the close of the paternal discourse he began to ask questions.

"Does God make the thunder storms?"

Sonny hated them.

"Yes," answered Perry.

D. A. V. HIGHLIGHTS

by Paul T. Metcalf

CD Auxiliary Fire Dept.—

It is indeed a pleasure for me to note here that the local DAV chapter has volunteered to help form a Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire Dept. Sixteen of the members filled out the necessary papers and eleven have been sworn in as members of the newly formed unit. The others will be sworn in in the near future. These men will be trained to fight fire, to give first aid to the injured and to do anything that will be required of them in an emergency situation. As part of the Civil Defense team of Wilmington the unit may be called out at any time on orders from the Civil Defense Director.

All of this came about the other night at our regular meeting when we had as our guests, several prominent men in the field of Civil Defense. Mr. Rene Larivee, the local Civil Defense Director spoke briefly on the duties of an Auxiliary and then the swearing in ceremony was performed by Simon Cutter in the presence of State Police Det. Lt. Roy of the State Fire Marshalls Office; Capt. Leo Keating, USN, Ret., Civil Defense Director of the City of Woburn; Fire Capt. Ben Shaw, head of the CD Auxiliary Fire Dept. of Woburn and from our local Fire Dept. (we were happy to have with us) Lt. George Cushing.

We of the DAV hope that others will follow our example and help to make this unit one which Wilmington can be proud. We can never come up to the record of the regular Fire Dept. but we can do our best. Why not contact Mr. Larivee at once and ask how you can best serve in Civil Defense, do it now!

Those sworn in by Mr. Cutter at the meeting were Jim Duggan, Jim Shine, Jimmy Simpson, Joe Sullivan, Harry Reed, Al Lynch, John Kenney, Steve Wendell, Henry Olsen, Paul Metcalf and Charlie Steeves.

Membership

Our membership is increasing all the time, thanks to Jimmy Simpson and his committee. If each member would bring in a new member our membership would double, all of which seems elementary, but the fact is that it is so easy to say but so hard to accomplish. I would like to see more members become actively engaged in the activities of the Chapter.

In General

I wonder what Al Lynch is going to do with all the gold (trophies, that is) that he won in the Horseshoe Tournament? Al won top honors in the singles and he and Walter Kinkel placed second in the doubles.

Haven't seen Paul Brennan around lately, he must be stuck in one of those sand traps over at the golf links.

Dan (Mickey) Coughlin has gone south for the winter. Yup, way down in Windsor Locks, Conn. Good luck, Mickey on your new venture.

Don't forget to come to the Turkey Night to be held on Tuesday evening November 13 at our quarters on Grove Ave.

See you next week and remember to lend a helping hand to those less fortunate than you.

MR. CALABRESE IS A GENTLEMAN

On Thursday evening, Sept. 27 we attended a meeting of the Taxpayers Association at which Alfred Calabrese, our chief assessor was the guest speaker. During the course of the evening, Mr. Calabrese explained the revaluation process for the benefit of those who were still in doubt. He also told the group that the formula he is using was not drawn up by him and that personalities no longer are able to enter into assessments. He told the group how much better off they are now then under the old methods of assessment. It is possible for the taxpayer at any time to determine the fairness of his valuation, by looking at his card which is available at the town hall. No valuations are now arrived at simply by glances at the outside of a building. Each of these tax cards has an accurate description of the owners property and shows clearly what it is that he is being taxed upon.

There is very little to be said on taxation or revaluation that has not been said many times before.

Thursday's meeting was our first association with Mr. Calabrese and although we were not too favorably impressed (what taxpayer is ever favorably impressed by an assessor) with his words on taxation etc., are forced to admit that this man is a gentleman. He managed very well in keeping his temper in the face of some remarks which were clearly meant to upset him. Mr. Calabrese invited the group to question him at will and we felt that most of those who questioned him received satisfactory answers.

The group, as a whole was not antagonistic and the meeting was conducted very smoothly by Robert Michelson, who presided. All in all we spent a most enlightening and enjoyable evening.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Connors of 38 Swain Rd., celebrated their 4th wedding anniversary on Oct. 4. Dinner at the Chuck Wagon followed by a show was enjoyed by the couple. Their many friends wish them many happy years together. Mrs. O'Connors is the former Norma Erikson of Pinehurst.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS AT HIGH SCHOOL

The first in a series of programs arranged jointly by Northeastern University and Harland Whittridge, Director of Guidance, of the Guidance Department of Wilmington High School will be held in the high school, Wednesday, October 24.

During the program, students will be given the opportunity to ask educators and businessmen questions concerning colleges and various occupations during a panel session to be moderated by Roland R. Darling, Assistant Director of Admissions, Northeastern University, co-ordinator of the series.

Designed to offer explanations of the current situation in colleges of engineering, business administration, education, and liberal arts; the program will also explain the opportunities available for placement of high school graduates in banks, offices and retail stores, or apprentice training in industry.

Members of the panel will be: Reverend Edmond Walsh, Director of Admissions, Boston College; Miss Mary Carney, Personnel Assistant, American Mutual Liability Insurance Company; and Ernest Jacoby, Director, North Bennet Street Industrial School of Boston.

Among the guest speakers who will visit the school once a month during the academic year 1956-57 will be representatives of: the Mass. Society of Professional Engineers, Raytheon Mfg. Co., The First National Bank of Boston, The National Shawmut Bank, The Mass. Radio School, Boston College, Tufts, The National Machine Accountants, Assoc., Filene's, Wentworth Institute, Lasell Junior College, The Home Economics in Business Group, and several others.

What put the magic in the new kind of FORD?

The new Ford Fairlane 500 (118-inch wheelbase). Longer, lower, larger than many medium-priced cars, yet lower in price than most of them!

Here's what put the magic in the new kind of FORD!

It started with the "Inner Ford." When Ford planned this baby, they thought in terms of a car through-and-through new.

The wheels got smaller. This Ford is so new that even the wheels have changed. Now smaller and broader, they help you take off quickly.

The wheelbase got longer... so now you can choose between a Ford that's over 16 ft. long—or one over 17 ft. long!

The frame got wider. Side rails bow out to give a more stable, safer riding platform... a lower, sleeker silhouette.

The ride got smoother. With new suspension, new springing front and rear, the ride this new Ford gives is the smoothest ever.

The handling got easier. Poised and balanced like a panther, this car has swept-back front suspension that works its magic when you need it most.

The power got hotter. There's a wide range of Silver Anniversary V-8's to fit every horsepower need... plus a new Mileage Maker Six.

"Six or V-8
the going is great!"

The roof got lower. And it's designed to let you make the easy entries and graceful exits you've always known.

The body got quieter. It's the strongest body built for a low-priced car. No car in Ford's field has such generous sound-proofing.

The room got bigger. There's head room to spare for a tycoon-type hat. There's real stretch-out leg room, too.

The lines got sweeter. They have the Touch of Tomorrow. Each graceful contour says, "Let's go!"

The style got smarter. With this new-look Ford you have a car that belongs anywhere! All Fairlane models look like hardtops.

The value got greater... the price is still Ford-low.

*A Special 270-hp Thunderbird $12 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, an extra-high-performance Thunderbird $12 Super V-8 engine delivering up to 285 hp.

SEE IT FOR YOURSELF!

So now you know the magic of the

KEEPING AN EAR TO THE GROUND

by Joe Smith

The proposed atomic power plant to be constructed in the Deerfield Valley in Rowe is about ready to go into the blueprint stage. The Yankee Atomic Energy Company of Boston, which will build the plant, has retained the Stone & Webster Engineering Company of Boston to draw up preliminary plans. Estimated cost of the first atomic plant in Massachusetts is set at $18,500,000.

The first concrete pavement in the United States was built in Bellefontaine, Ohio. It is still in use after 63 years of service.

Under terms of the $25 Billion Defense and Interstate Highway Act of 1956, some 40,000 miles of highways will be constructed during the next 13 years. Of this, about 347 miles of roadways will be built in Massachusetts.

The name Portland Cement does not come from the name of any of the 24 communities in the U.S.

which are called Portland. Joseph Aspin, the British bricklayer who invented Portland cement way back in 1824 so called it because in color and shading it reminded him of a natural stone quarried on the Isle of Portland just off the coast of Great Britain.

FIRE DEPT. ISSUES
WARNING TO CITIZENS

Members of the fire dept. have issued a warning to the citizens of Wilmington asking them not to open their homes to anyone representing the dept. unless proper identification can be shown.

This is a new one on us, but it has come to light that two men have been circulating around town impersonating firemen and asking to inspect chimneys. When they have gained entrance to a home, they find the chimney in need of cleaning and immediately set to work. The home-owner thinking the men to be legitimate members of the fire dept., offer no objection. However, when the work is completed, the householder finds himself being charged a considerable sum. In various cases the citizens have paid the price without complaint, but last week, a lady called the fire station and complained violently against this unethical operation on the part of the town's employees.

Please take heed! These men are not firemen. When a member of the fire dept. calls at your home for any kind of an inspection he will have either a letter of identification or an official badge. There is no charge for inspections made by the dept. and firemen will not clean your chimney.

If you are approached by anyone asking to inspect your chimney who cannot offer proper identification please, immediately call either your police or fire dept.

TOWN RESIDENT - LIONS
SPEAKER

During the evening of Oct. 10, Edward Page, a Lion Member and an Engineer for Westinghouse, introduced as the speaker a well-known town resident, Burt Sell.

Mr. Sell addressed the Lions on the Subject of Radar. His form of presentation concerning such a technical subject proved to be very interesting and understanding to the entire membership.

Mr. Sell explained the various features and values of Radar in general and then delved on certain phases such as Surface Search Radar, Sweep Line Radar, and Fire Control Radar.

He informed the group that the letters in the word RADAR actually mean Radio Detection And Ranging.

It was very evident from what was being said that Mr. Sell's knowledge and information was put to good use during the last World War and as he spoke, one could see that he spoke with authority or with definite understanding of the subject.

The Speaker at various times used actual wartime experiences in order to prove what was being done with Radar by the U.S. and the enemy. He indicated how the Allies and the enemy were constantly attempting to destroy the others progress and still make progress. It was proven that the Germans were considered to have the best Radar during the War. The realization came about when some of their equipment was captured.

According to well-known sources, an appreciation of Mr. Sell's work during the War was not only indicated by the U.S. Government but also by other governments that he assisted such as Britain, France, Greece, and Russia during the time that she was an Ally of the U.S.

Mr. John Cuoco, King Lion of the Wilmington Lions Club, expressed the Club's appreciation to Mr. Burt Sell for his very enlightening remarks.

WILMINGTON
CONGREGATIONAL
MEN'S CLUB

The Wilmington Congregational Church Men's Club at their regular meeting on Monday at 8:00 p.m. will have as its speaker Cyril J. Raye, who is a professional elephant trapper from Pakistan, India. Mr. Raye has been living in Stoneham, with Mr. and Mrs. James Culleton of Pond St., since June 21. He brought a baby elephant, which is 17 months old, stands 3'4" in height and weighs 300 lbs. to this country. Its name is Kutub - un - Nissa, which means "Fairest of Ladies." Mr. Raye is employed with the Middlesex Fells Zoo in Stoneham as a trainer and advisor.

The elephant was a gift to Ambassador Horace A. Hildreth of Me., who in turn presented it to the Zoo in Stoneham.

ST. DOROTHY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

St. Dorothy's Holy Name Society held its regular meeting last Sunday night at the parish hall on Main street the guest speaker for this occasion was Monsignor Robinson former chaplain of the Charlestown State Prison. Monsignor gave a very inspiring talk on the subject that he is very familiar with, "Crime", he also pointed out just how the people fall into crime, and stressed that the great majority of crime is committed by our youth, the reason for this is mainly because of poor examples shown them in the home, because of parents that do not properly look out for their children.

The president then called upon the spiritual director Rev. Fr. Leahy. Fr. Leahy thanked all the men that attended the meeting, and also the Mass. in the morning, it was very gratifying to see many of the new faces both for Mass and at the meeting, he extended an invitation for more to come forward and join with the society. Fr. Leahy stated that he will do all that is possible to arrange for another interesting speaker for the next months meeting.

The drive for new members is now in progress, and will be throughout the year, any man that is not a member is asked to contact any member of the society to join in with us, every man of the parish should be a Holy Name Man, and St. Dorothy's needs all that is willing to enroll.
